TOWN OF COLEMAN

FIRE
PREVENTION
WEEK

October 6 to 13, 1929

The Citizens are asked to co-operate with the Fire Department during the above week by inspecting their property and removing anything that is likely to cause fire.

Inspect the Stove and Furnace Pipes, have them cleaned, remove all rubbish, use a metal container for ashes, when removing ashes make sure that they are dead before depositing them outside, as a spark from a pile of hot ashes has been known to nearly burn up a town in the last year. A fire prevented is a saving to all taxpayers, and policy holders.

WARNING

FIRE PREVENTION BY-LAW

The citizens of Coleman are warned that the following sections of the above By-law will be strictly enforced owing to hazardous conditions, with everything being very dry and subject to spreading fires.

(c) No person shall kindle, maintain or assist in kindling, or maintaining any bonfire or other exposed fire within the town for burning rubbish or for any other purpose, without having first obtained a permit from the Chief of the Fire Department.

(h) Every owner or occupant of any tenement, dwelling house or other building in the said town, in which fire is used shall cause every chimney and flue thereof in use to be swept once in the course of each and every year, to wit, before the first day of October in each and every year.

W. J. BURNS
MayorJ. HOUGHTON
Chief of Fire DepartmentFire in Forest Last Friday
Caused Quite a Scare

The danger of cabins being built among trees was demonstrated last Friday night, when a cabin built by some boys near to the McGillivray mine entrance was destroyed by fire. Fortunately there was little wind, and a slight rain prevented the flames spreading into the forest of trees and to the adjacent Klumfelt park. Had it occurred a month earlier, greater destruction would have ensued.

There was a stove in the building and the framework, made of small trees, was nailed to standing trees. No clearing had been made around it for safety. The blaze, which started about 7 p.m., caused some concern in town, and Constable Houghton and several of the fire brigade hurried to the place, shovelling earth on the blazing embers to prevent it spreading.

There should be restrictions on building such places such as this, for boys do not realize the damage that may be caused by lighting fires in crudely constructed buildings, and stoves and pipes add to the danger. Last Friday's experience undoubtedly has furnished its own object lesson.

Funeral of Mrs. Bozzer

The funeral of Mrs. Bertha Bozzer was held on Thursday afternoon last, service being held at Holy Ghost church and interment in the Catholic cemetery.

In the funeral procession were members of Italian societies and a large number of friends of the family, many being unable to gain admittance to the church.

Mrs. Bozzer, who was a daughter of Mrs. Milo, had been married less than a year. She was admitted to hospital and died on Sunday, Sept. 29, after a brief illness. She had lived in Coleman since 1920, when the family moved from Michel, and besides her husband is survived by four brothers and two sisters. Her father died several years ago.

The very large attendance of sympathisers and the floral tributes bore evidence to the esteem in which the deceased was held, and her early death is mourned by all who knew her.

Card of Thanks

Mr. L. Bozzer, and Mrs. Milo and family, desire to express their thanks for the many expressions of sympathy received in their bereavement in the death of Mrs. Bozzer, and thank all who loaned cars and the following for the floral tributes:

Ordre Independente Fior D'Italia; Star of Italy, Local Order of Moose; P. DeCocco and family, Mrs. Montalbeti and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. Salvador, Mr. and Mrs. G. "Up—Up in the Air."

A number of people from Coleman and Blairmore enjoyed their first experience of an airplane ride on Sunday. Aviators J. McMillen and Gil McLaren, of Great Western Airways, Ltd., Calgary, arrived shortly after 11 a.m. and continued taking up passengers for 15-minute flights until darkness came.

The first to take a ride was Mrs. A. M. Morrison, who enjoyed a flight above Crow's Nest Lake. So busy was the plans kept that the return to Calgary was deferred till Monday.

The aviators found the field in very good condition, and stated it required very little maintenance. The machine used was a Moth two-seater.

Possible Cause of Fire

The fire which broke out at 1.45 a.m. last Thursday at the Empire hotel is attributed to boys who probably pushed cigarette ends into an aperture from the exterior of the building. The proprietor states it was impossible for anyone to have entered the room in the wall of which the fire was discovered, as he had the key, and examination of the place indicated that cigarette ends had been pushed in, causing a slow smouldering fire. Had it developed quickly, very serious consequences might have followed, as the house was fully occupied by boarders asleep in their rooms.

An interesting visitor over the week-end was ex-inspector C. C. Ravan, formerly of the Northwest Mounted Police, who with Mrs. Ravan was motoring from Saskatchewan to Vernon, B.C., where they intend to reside. They visited Mrs. Barrie and son Robert F., they being old friends in the earlier days of Macleod's history.

Inspector Ravan served 35 years in the celebrated police force, coming to Calgary when he was 17 years of age, when the embryo city was a mere collection of houses. He has seen service in all of the western provinces, in the Yukon and in South Africa, and after his retirement from the force took holy orders and for some time served as an Anglican minister in the Diocese of Qu'Appelle.

With such a record of service, during which he has seen remarkable development in western Canada, he has well earned a rest in the beautiful district of Vernon, centre of the famous Okanagan Valley fruit district. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ravan will join in wishing them many years of happiness in their new home.

Coleman Fire Chief Requests Citizens to Make Safeguards Against Fires

This week will be observed as Fire Prevention Week throughout Canada. It is a nation wide movement which within recent years has received an increasing amount of support from the people as a whole.

In Coleman Fire Chief J. Houghton and members of the brigade will do everything within their power to get citizens to remove fire hazards and generally safeguard their premises for the winter season.

Statistics show that 314 lives were lost in Canada in 1928 and fire losses totalled $36,000,000.

"Clean up and exercise care to avoid fires, and remind others to do the same," is the exhortation of Fire Chief Houghton to all citizens.

A newspaper recently offered a prize for the most newsy gossip but no person applied for it, apparently not caring to claim the distinction.

Lieut. Meakings of the Salvation Army has asked The Journal to make it known that articles of clothing of any kind would be gladly received. He has many applications for local relief, and people having clothing which they would be willing to donate would oblige by leaving it at the hall or advising Lieut. Meakings.

Markets For Western Products

The story of the marketing of the grain of the western provinces of Canada is a long, complicated, but exceedingly interesting one. It is a record of one acute problem arising in succession to another as the years passed and conditions both at home and abroad brought radical but inevitable changes. It is a history filled with heroic efforts, the breaking new trails, the grappling with the seemingly impossible, in the endeavor to solve first one problem and then another, thus removing the difficulties that lay in the path to successful, prosperous, western agriculture. Twenty-five or thirty years ago the chief cause of complaint was the then existing elevator combine, closely linked with the transportation companies. The passage of the original Canadian Grain Act, with its provision of the leading platform, went a long way towards the removal of that grievance.

Then, with rapid increase in settlement and consequent production in the early years of the present century, lack of railway facilities resulting in annually recurring blockades, caused enormous loss to the producers. The great era of railway building largely solved that problem.

The elevator problem, involving questions of grading, dockage, charges for services rendered, depressing of prices, etc., still remained acute. The result was the inauguration of Government-owned and operated elevators in some provinces and farmers' co-operative elevators in Saskatchewan, the creation of the United Grain Growers, and constant revision and amendment of the Canadian Grain Act.

Following the war, and the enormous increase in acreage brought under cultivation by the Greater Production campaigns, coupled with the complete demoralization of world trade, falling prices, and lack of credit and buying power in Europe, and, in particular, the abandonment of the wartime Wheat Board, western grain growers found themselves in a serious predicament, faced with prices barely equivalent to, even below, the cost of production. With courage and unsurpassed initiative western farmers grappled with the problem and worked out their own salvation through the organization of their great Wheat Pools.

Conditions improved, marketing became more scientific, prices somewhat more stabilized. Then came the crop of 1928, the largest in volume in the history of the west, but, owing to climatic conditions, one of poor quality. Within two years, too, the "combine" and the motor truck had come very largely into use, with the result that the grain poured into the elevators not only in unprecedented volume, but with unprecedented rapidity. The building of good market roads likewise served to speed up deliveries.

The net result was: a situation which, while providing employment for a huge army of harvesters, and an enormous volume of traffic for the transportation companies, left little margin of profit for the grower of the grain. Complaint was almost universal against the Board of Grain Commissioners, it being very generally felt that it was "asleep at the switch," and had not made even reasonable efforts to cope with the situation which had developed. The old Board was replaced by a new one which has the confidence of the farmers and from which better things are expected.

Beneficial as the operations of the Pools have been, there has been developed in some quarters, and notably in Saskatchewan, a feeling that the maximum benefit to be derived from united selling cannot be realized until every bushel of wheat grown in Canada is marketed through one agency, namely, the Pools, and that, human nature being what it is, this cannot be secured through wholly voluntary efforts, and consequently the minority should be compelled by legislation to throw in their lot with the majority and make to deliver their wheat to the Pools.

While this agitation is being carried on, a new situation has developed. Owing to a large carry over from the 1928 crop, and the rapid harvesting and delivery to the elevators of this year's crop, and with a manifest reluctance on the part of European buyers to purchase Canadian wheat at a price commensurate with its value and production cost, there is practically no movement of grain out of Canada at the present time. The result is that all forms of storage in this country are, at the time of writing, almost filled up, and embargoes or shipments in effect.

The situation is believed to be only a temporary one, and that, as soon as other wheat exporting countries, now selling below the price which Canada demands, are out of the market, there will be a call for Canadian wheat and a price obtainable acceptable to the Canadian producer.

However, with the steadily increasing size of the Canadian wheat crop, and increases in other countries as well, western farmers must inevitably take a longer interest than ever before in the whole subject of finding and developing export markets for Canadian products. The possibilities of the awakening Orient call for close investigation and expert study. Such subjects as the effect of Canada's Government-owned merchant marine, operated at a loss, in opening and developing new markets require careful consideration as to whether the direct operating loss is not more than offset in national gains and profit through the development of export trade.

Western farmers as never before will find it necessary in their own interests to devote attention through the medium of their organizations to world problems and conditions, the trend of economics, and the effect which machinery and new channels of transportation must assuredly have upon world food production, distribution and prices.

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude herbs. Use what your doctor would advise.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go south—now—why this method is supreme.

ST. VITUS DANCE

A Disease Of The Nerves Which Must Be Treated Through The Blood

St. Vitus Dance is a disease of the nerves brought on by a morbid condition of the blood. It is a disease with children, but sometimes attacks adults. The treatment of this trouble is the necessary drug through the blood, because rich, red blood is the life food of the nerves. In this way Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved beneficial in even the most severe forms of this trouble, because they enrich the blood supply, thus carrying the necessary food to the nerves. In proof of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind we have the statement of Mrs. William Stead, Wilton, Ont., who says:—"My eldest girl at the age of nine years suffered from an attack of whooping cough which left her very weak, and finally developed into a severe attack of St. Vitus Dance. She was under a doctor's care, but with no beneficial results. We also tried other treatments, but with no better results. To make matters worse she was taken down with measles. Again the doctor was called in, as she became so weak her limbs so trembled that we had to take her about in a little hand wagon. I thought of the clean air and scene might help her, so we sent her by boat to Port McNicoll, a distance of about a hundred miles. She seemed to improve while there, but as soon as she came home her strength was gone again. I took her to another doctor, but with no better results. I was distracted to see how helpless she would become, so I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. I got six boxes, and they did what no other doctor or other remedies had even started to do. They built her up completely. The St. Vitus Dance disappeared, she has no sign of weakness and can run and play with the other girls. A thing she could not even try to do when she was eighteen months old. I walk to and from school, a distance of about a mile, which, of course, is a great deal for her present age. I have much to praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for, and always recommend them in all cases of weakness."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail for 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Dr. Buckley Is New Agrostologist At Dominion Experimental Farm

Dr. G. F. H. Buckley has recently been appointed to the position of agrostologist at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Brandon. Dr. Buckley was born in Halifax, N.S. He received his Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Alberta in 1920. On his return to Edmonton he became assistant professor of field husbandry, having special charge of the field experiments. At the Brandon farm Dr. Buckley will continue the corn breeding investigations which were commenced in 1923. This work is being carried on with a view to developing a cold-resistant, early maturing variety of corn that will give good yields for fodder and silage.

History In Narrative

"Pages From Canada's Story" Of Particular Interest To Pupils In Western Schools

"Pages From Canada's Story," by Helen Palk, is found to be a considerable aid to students of history, particularly to those in our public schools round the age of eleven. Homeopaths claim that their formula and method of taking medicine is more advantageous to patients than the prescriptions of allopathists, and Miss Palk can certainly claim that placing before pupils of schools, in Canada, outstanding events in the history of Canada in narrative form will create a more lasting impression upon their minds. A great Frenchman, Rousseau, stated that "the book which, to my thinking is the happiest treatise on natural education is 'Robinson Crusoe,'" and it is apparent that the author of this little book realized that children will absorb those incidents connected with the vital events of our country's history, simple portrayals of character, and graphic descriptions of locations, more easily than a precise chronology of events, wadsome through sentences, tedious in its attempts at analysis and redundancy of phraseology.

In these word pictures, the author has successfully endeavored to place the essential facts clearly before the eyes of the reader, which instantly photographs them upon the mind, thus aiding the memorizing of them.

Extreme care has been taken in choosing the most vital and colorful incidents of the history of the Dominion of the child, and this without diverging from the truth, but as it has been written particularly in the interest of pupils in Western schools the story of Western development receives more descriptions.

The author has studiously avoided redundancy of phrasing, the use of hard words, and verbiage, all of which will be to the benefit of the children for whom it is written. It is not written for the historian or erudite person as is readily seen from the sketchy character of constitutional changes.

Its main objective feature lays in the vivid descriptions of early pioneer life. The dangers, struggles and tragedies of the pioneers who laid the foundation of this great nation, which cannot be too emphasized, as we are all prone to ignore the sacrifices and terrible experience of those who "built better than they were." To forget that but for their supreme daring, patience, endurance, and superb courage the conditions which prevail today, to say nothing of the retention of the country, would not have been attained.

Miss Palk has produced something that this text book she has produced a record of outstanding and which will inevitably appeal to the scholars in our schools and provide both an incentive and fundamental ground for a more exhaustive study of Canadian history, and after all the greatest principle in education is to feed a desire for knowledge, to rear the tender thought and pour fresh instruction over the mind.

The avoidance of dates and tedious details is more of an advantage than otherwise. By taking periods instead of years the author has been able to fix the main features of transpiring events and the chief characteristics of the participants in them more surely in the minds of children. By so doing she has reached the happy height of pleasing to the sympathy and understanding of her readers, which of necessity must fill them with pride of ancestral triumphs and achievement, and incidentally a glow of patriotism. Who shall say that some of the children for whom the book is written may not be stung with some thought whose splendour may impel them to prove as great, if not more heroic, than those characters whom the author has depicted with a pure pen and clarity of insight.

Great thought and intense feeling come like instincts unawares to those who rise above mediocrity. Yes, certainly Miss Palk has given to the schools something more than a few pages from Canadian history, something more than a text book, a compilation of the most inspiring incidents in Canada's annals, vivid character sketches which impinge themselves upon the youthful mind, and best of all a well spring from which her readers can draw inspiration.

The book is splendidly illustrated, and as pictures not only have a great appeal to the young, but are longest remembered, they will materially help forward the objective of the author.

A Wonderful Machine

Transforms Music Into Ribbon Of Light And Responds To Every Change

Music was transformed into a ribbon of light and made to write its own characteristics on a cloth screen at Glenside, New York. When low, pure tones were sounded the strip rippled smoothly like wave motion travelling along a rope, but when harsh, discordant sounds were made, the shining line writhed and contorted like an agitated snake. For all gliding of harmony the line showed distinctive waves, different for each sound, even down to discrepancies in tone too fine for the ear.

The instrument is a development of the Osio, which has been used for some time to photograph voice and music characteristics. The new device substitutes a moving picture for a "still." It is a mirror, vibrating under control of an electrical current from a microphone that picks up the sounds to be pictured. This mirror reflects a beam of light through revolving mirrors. It was developed by William Baird White, acoustic engineer of the American Steel & Wire Co., and C. Anderson, engineer of the Westinghouse Electric & Engineering Co.

Musical students are given a pattern of a perfect sound and attempt to reproduce it in the light.

"It seems certain," said Mr. White, "that improvement can be attained in this way, but it also seems certain that no amount of effort will transform a good clerk into a great artist, for one of the things demonstrated is that each artist produces patterns as individual as his signature, and although others may be able to imitate these patterns fairly well, apparently no one else can reproduce them exactly."

The Osio is designed to calibrate the harmony of musical instruments, and detect imperfections, whether in tones from wires or strings, or reverberations of sounding boards. Mr. White said that it is found sounding boards sometimes reverberate better at some points in the scale than others.

WISE POLICY TO HOLD GRAIN FOR HIGHER PRICES

Toronto, Ont.—Declaring that only a remarkable recovery can provide for a normal wheat supply from the southern hemisphere, the Canadian Bank of Commerce, in its monthly commercial letter, says it will, be contrary to the present statistical position of the world wheat situation if at the end of the current season Canada is not credited with following the wisest policy in having refused to sell freely during the last two months.

In connection with the bank's comment, it is recalled that two days ago, E. B. Ramsay, general manager of the Canadian Wheat Pool, issued a statement at Winnipeg in which he maintained the Western Canadian farmer was not justified in reducing the price of the wheat he holds and insisting that even higher prices are justified for Canada's hard wheat.

Commenting on the small export trade in Canadian wheat which has resulted in unprecedented congestion at lake head, bay and export port elevators in the east, the Bank of Commerce says it speaks well for the financial position of the western farming community that it has so far not been forced to sell wheat on a declining market. Refusal to sell at a low price is "as much the privilege of the farmer and his marketing organizations to adopt as it is of the other business interests which bargain for the best possible returns," the bank says.

Japanese Envoy Sails For Canada

Says Closest Co-Operation Between Two Countries Is Important

Tokyo, Japan.—Japan's first minister to Canada, Iyemon Tokugawa, has sailed from here to take up his duties in Ottawa.

The minister said before sailing, that the most cordial bond had always united Canada and Japan. Now, however, affairs of the Pacific made it important that there be the closest co-operation between the two countries, not only in their own interests, but in the interests of the peace of the world. The governments were to be congratulated on their exchange of ministers, he said. He rejoiced in the presence in Japan of the Canadian minister, Hon. H. M. Marler. The whole Japanese nation welcomed him.

"I am convinced that he will succeed in his position here," the Japanese minister said. He would likewise do his utmost to succeed in Canada. He would attempt to learn Canada's requirements and would tell Canadians frankly of Japan's share in consolidating the understanding between the two nations.

M. Tokugawa said he anticipated applying his residence in Canada.

Predicts New Legislation

Resolution by Government To Prohibit Liquor Exports Is Expected
Ottawa, Ont.—The Ottawa Evening Journal says: "The announcement by Premier MacKenzie King that the government has not the power to prohibit the export of liquor to the United States is interpreted in well-informed political circles to indicate that at the next session the government will introduce legislation to ban the export of liquor across the border."

"This would be done by refusing clearance to shipments intended for American consumption."

"If the government sponsors a resolution to prohibit liquor exports, there is no doubt the measure will carry in the house."

Present Crops Eligible

Saskatoon.—Grain from this year's crop is eligible for the World's Grain Exhibition, at Regina, in 1932. J. A. Rooney, manager of the Exhibition, was in Saskatoon from Regina, and rented seed growers that it was not too early to begin selection work.

No Cause For Alarm

Ottawa.—That Canada has no cause for alarm regarding changes likely to be made in the existing Forney-McCumber bill was the statement of P. J. McCumber, former North Dakota senator and now member of the International joint commission which met here.

Outlines Policy Of Labor Government

Secretary For Foreign Affairs Addresses Annual Conference At Brighton

Brighton, England.—Palestine will remain a national home for the Jews; British evacuation of the Rhineland will be complete by December 14; no pledges have been given in securing agreement with Russia on exchange of ambassadors; and a new treaty with Egypt will be made when the people of Egypt signify they are in support of any Egyptian government.

These are cardinal points of an outline of the Labor Government's policy on the outstanding foreign and empire questions of the day, given by Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, secretary for foreign affairs, at the Labor party's annual conference here. Mr. Henderson's address also included a strong plea for support of Britain and the United States, and the statement that the negotiations had reached the stage where it was hoped that Japan, Italy and France would soon be able to join in.

The foreign secretary declared that when, with the dominions, "with whom, of course, he acted in close consultation," the British government signed the optional clause and thereby expressed adherence to the court of international justice at The Hague, "it gave a fresh impetus to the cause of international arbitration."

But signature to the optional clause was not enough, though it provided for compulsory arbitration of international law disputes. British Government, said Mr. Henderson, was giving "most earnest consideration" to compulsory arbitration of other classes of disputes. When that problem was settled the government would have paved the way to more than all-round reductions in armaments than ever before was contemplated.

Saved Many Lives

Taxi Driver Used Ingenious Method To Rescue People In Burning Building

Brooklyn, N.Y.—A handful of footpicks, carried by a cab driver probably saved the lives of more than 30 residents of a four-story block here.

The block caught fire while all the occupants were asleep. The taxi driver, whose name was not learned, was in a restaurant across the street. Seeing the smoke pouring from the building, he rushed over and found the hallways filled with smoke.

Returning to the restaurant he grabbed a handful of footpicks. Going back to the burning building, he went from door to door through the hallways, pressing the doorbell buttons and inserting a footpick to make them ring continuously. All of the occupants got out of the building, which was gutted by the flames.

Grain Ships Tied Up

Boats On Lower Lakes Have Had Slight Season

Montreal.—Eleven lower lakes bulk freighters of the Canadian Steamships Lines have been placed in winter quarters at Kingston, on account of continued depression in the grain situation it is announced here. These vessels have been tied up during the larger part of the season and prospects for cargo during the next two months failed to justify their maintenance in commission.

In view of the fact that grain shipments have been small this season, and more particularly during the last three months, it is expected there will be a heavy movement next year as soon as navigation opens to Montreal. The grain in the country total stocks on September 20 being 149,474,645 bushels in Canadian elevators and 22,616,608 bushels of Canadian grain in U.S. elevators, and must be moved eventually.

Indians Demand Rights

Northern Ontario Chiefs Base Case On Treaty Of Utrecht

Sudbury.—Chiefs and delegates from all the principal Indian Reservations in Northern Ontario are meeting here at a general council to seek restoration of their ancient rights and privileges in the forests where their forefathers reigned supreme. The Indians argue that their people are entitled for modern civilized life yet, that their livelihood is bound up in streams and forests and that trapping is practically their only source of revenue. The treaty of Utrecht and a proclamation of George III. are the basis of their claims.

Three C.N.R. Ships Sold

Purchased By Navigation Co. For Vancouver-California Service

Vancouver.—An announcement is made that the Kingsley Navigation Company, Limited, has purchased the three steamers of the Canadian National Steamships service to California, and will merge it with the present sailings between Vancouver and California ports. The three ships are S.S. Canadian Rover, S.S. Canadian Observer, and S.S. Canadian Explorer. The vessels will remain under Canadian management.

The purchase price was not announced.

Plan Junior Police Force

Will Be Similar To Royal Canadian Mounted Police

Ottawa.—Modelled on the Royal Canadian Mounted Police system, a junior police force is to be inaugurated in Ottawa. The force will have no practical work to do at first, but it is hoped eventually it will be recognized by the police department. Formation of the junior corps will, it is expected, reduce juvenile delinquency. Officers of the juvenile court and a local service club leaders are in the movement.

C. N. R. BRANCH LINE WORK IS WELL ADVANCED

Winnipeg.—Considerable progress has been made by the Canadian National Railways with the construction of branch lines on the prairies during the summer, according to H. A. Dixon, chief engineer of the western lines of the company.

Of the 568 miles of the new line in Saskatchewan and Alberta for which authority to build was granted by parliament at its last session, work has been proceeding on 415 miles. In some cases, grading has been as much as 70 per cent. finished, and on the Aberdeen-Melfort line, 25 miles of track have been laid in an easterly direction from the junction with the Cudworth subdivision at Wakarusa. There will be a continuance of all work on these branch lines until weather conditions no longer permit.

Although the program was one of the heaviest ever undertaken by the company, only 150 miles have had no work done on them. However, plans are prepared to begin work on this mileage next year and the assurance is given by Mr. Dixon that the program will be fully completed within the three-year period defined by parliament.

In addition to this program, the company has also succeeded in putting steel into the Sheritt-Gordon mine over the branch line authorized last fall and in practically completing the first lift of ballast to Fort Churchill over the 90 miles of grade upon which a skeleton track was laid last winter. The engineers in charge expect to have this piece of track in shape early next summer, that through freight and passenger trains will be able to operate between The Pas and Churchill by the end of July at the latest.

Much Impressed by West

Hector Charlesworth, editor-in-chief of the Toronto Saturday Night, and author of "Candid Chronicles" and "More Candid Chronicles," has been travelling over Canadian Pacific lines throughout the West on a combination holiday and business tour this summer. He is here seen in the grounds of the Empress Hotel, Victoria, which he visited for the first time since its construction. He was greatly impressed with the rapid growth and development of the entire city of Victoria.

INVESTIGATE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Prof. Kenneth W. Taylor, of the economics department, McMaster University, who has been appointed by the Federal Minister of Labor to conduct, under the Combines Investigation Act, the preliminary investigation into the alleged combine in the motion picture industry in Canada. This preliminary inquiry is to decide as to whether or not a royal commission will be appointed to delve into the matter, and Prof. Taylor expects to submit his report to the government in a couple of weeks.

Foreign Minister Is Dead

Dr. Gustave Stresemann Was Active In World Peace Movement

Berlin.—Foreign Minister Gustave Stresemann died suddenly October 3. Dr. Stresemann had been in ill-health for months, but recently he had so far recovered as to be able to participate in the arduous conference at The Hague on reparations and the session of the Assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva.

Dr. Stresemann was one of the foremost statesmen of post-war Europe, and with Aristide Briand, French premier and foreign minister, generally was considered one of the most active of the world's peace workers. He was president of the German People's Party, a member of the Reichstag, a former chancellor of the German Republic, and the most widely known member of the present cabinet, headed by Chancellor Brüning.

Death came as a result of a heart attack after a stroke of paralysis.

To Test B.C. Coal

Victoria, B.C.—At a meeting of fuel experts here, presided over by Hon. W. A. Mackenzie, Minister of Mines, ways of developing and widening the market for British Columbia coals were discussed, with the result that it was decided to send a sample carload of forty tons from the various collieries in the province to the new laboratory at Ottawa for testing purposes.

Killed By a Motor Truck

Toronto, Ont.—Crushed beneath the wheels of a huge motor truck, Mrs. Rose Gugins, 21 years old, of 120 Marguerite Street, recently arrived in the city from Yorkton, Sask., met instant death as she stepped, with her husband, from a street car. The driver of the motor truck was arrested by police on a manslaughter charge.

Church Union In Scotland

Large Crowds Were In Attendance At Ceremonies In Edinburgh

Edinburgh, Scotland.—October 2 was an epoch-making day in Scottish ecclesiastical history. The union of the United Free Church and the Church of Scotland took place in the great Hall of Assembly on Argyllside Street.

It was a day of joyful thanksgiving. Church bells were pealed, the school children had a holiday, and the Assembly Halls were brilliantly illuminated by flood lighting.

The Assembly Hall was transformed into a scene of great beauty and dignity for the celebration of the act of union. Formerly it was a motor car garage, but it held 15,000 persons who represented all aspects of Scottish life, and all the Christian churches of Europe and the Dominions.

Intense emotion made dramatic the signing of the act of union by the moderators. By this act the churches became merged into the Church of Scotland. Rev. Dr. John White, of Glasgow, had the honor of becoming the first moderator of the new and greater body.

Would Prefer Being Ousted By Britain

But Nova Scotia Hopes To Sell Coal In Canada

Halifax.—If Nova Scotia is to be ousted from the home market in Canada it would be preferable to have it done by British coal rather than U.S. coal, though the result is largely the same for Nova Scotia mines, is a statement issued by Hon. G. S. Harrington, in which the Nova Scotia Minister of Mines declares there is no promise for improvement in the Nova Scotia coal trade in the proposal of Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas to organize what shipments to England and return English coal in the ships.

Hon. Mr. Harrington coupled his statement with an appeal for a national policy which would secure the Canadian market as far as possible for the coal producers of Nova Scotia and Alberta.

Not Worried Over Deficit

Experts Say Situation In Britain Is Quite Satisfactory

London, England.—A deficit of $360,000,000 is revealed in the government revenue returns for the first six months of the financial year, it is announced. But the situation is regarded by experts as being not unsatisfactory, inasmuch as the deficit is $20,000,000 lower than for the corresponding period last year. Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, as chancellor of the exchequer until a few months ago anticipated a reduction of $60,000,000 in the revenue over the whole year.

Business Still Increasing

Regina.—The local post office, which has been claimed as the office doing the greatest business in the city, showed a general increase in business for September over the corresponding month in 1929.

TRADE RELATIONS WITH RUSSIA WILL BENEFIT CANADA

Vancouver.—Resumption of relations with Russia is one of the most important things which can happen in development of Canada's trade in the opinion of Sir John Aird, president of the Bank of Commerce, who was in Vancouver, en route to Japan, where he will represent Canadian bankers at the Institute of Pacific Relations Congress.

"It is unthinkable that present conditions can continue," said Sir John in the course of an interview. "By resuming relations with Russia, I believe Britain and Canada will get a good part of the trade now being enjoyed by Germany and the United States."

While Russia is not listed among countries which will be represented at the congress, Sir John is hopeful that it will take some part. He believes this to be of vital import as a factor in better relations in the Pacific. Transportation and radio, Sir John believes, will play an important part in deliberations of the congress. While countries are not bound by the decision of their delegates he believes the meeting will have a beneficial effect on business and relationships.

WOMEN CREATE DISTURBANCE AT LABOR MEETING

Brighton, Eng.—Fighting all the way, two women Communists were carried out of the Labor party's conference here. A man had just been ejected from the public galleries on the other side of the hall, after showering the delegates with leaflets. The ejection of the women was a more difficult matter.

"Release the imprisoned miners," the women shouted. Stewards rushed to them but the women had handcuffed themselves to the railing of the gallery.

The women screamed and shouted while the perspiring stewards tried to break the chains loose. The stewards tried to stop the noise by placing their hands over the women's mouths. One of them broke loose and was gagged with a handkerchief. She broke loose again and bit the steward.

A delegate rose to protest that if his womenfolk were treated like that he would punch the steward on the nose. The chairman, Hon. Herbert Morrison, replied the delegate could have the steward's job if he wanted it.

The blame lay with the Communists, who had no more courage than to send women to the "firing line," the chairman continued.

"I don't mind a certain amount of this kind of thing, but it's getting too frequent," the chairman said. If it continued he would have to clear the public galleries.

The remainder of the sitting passed quietly, with the discussion of the proposed changes in the Labor Party's constitution. A delegate complained under one provision Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George or Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill might be a Labor candidate. "I would like to know what would happen to either of them if they made application," replied Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

Retiring Postal Officers Are Honored

Winnipeg Men Receive Evidences Of Appreciation From Office Staff

Winnipeg.—Two postal officers with long and honorable records bade adieu to the officers with whom they have been associated in Winnipeg, and officially went into retirement on the superannuation. They were Superintendent H. H. Phillips, and Inspector W. H. H. Wood, whose total service in various branches of postal work approaches 100 years.

The event was not allowed to pass without kindly words and tangible evidences of appreciation being made by the district office. Superintendent Phinney was given a travelling bag and camel-hair rug, while Inspector Wood received a clock. The rug was monogrammed by the ladies of the staff.

The vacant office was not to be filled until the civil service commission takes them by examination.

Dog Causes Boy's Arrest

Did Not Bark and Police Figured Burglar Was Known

Toronto, Ont.—A 15-year-old boy was arrested charged with the theft of jewelry valued at $3,000 from the home of Samuel Langdon, here. The arrest was brought about by the silence of the Langdon's pet dog, which had kept silent while the boy stole the jewelry from a miniature safe.

When Mrs. Langdon told detectives that she thought it strange that the dog had not raised any commotion, that at once narrowed their search down to people whom the dog knew. They questioned the boy and he finally confessed, they claim.

British Youth Seriously Hurt

Loses Leg When "Riding Rails" En Route To West

Port Arthur, Ont.—Sixteen-year-old Sydney Chapman, new to this country from Whitely, Northumberland, England, joyously "riding the rails" headed for the "Golden West." He lies in a serious condition in a local hospital, minus a leg and with his attendants "hoping he will recover." Young Chapman was found near a track in the Canadian Pacific Railway yards with his severed leg lying 50 yards further down the spur. It is presumed he had attempted to jump from the freight train on which he was riding and had fallen on the rails.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Towns on the "Crow" route are alive to the growing importance of air travel. Pincher Creek, Coleman, Fernie and Cranbrook have provided landing fields, which will doubtless be fully utilized in less time than many people imagine. A new map of the country, or rather of the air, is in the making, and local pride and business necessity will prompt people to see that their town is on the Trans-Canada air map.

Twenty-five years ago the automobile was beginning to come into general use. It was then considered a luxury. The war developed the use of the airplane, and to-day it is in the realm of commercial transportation to stay. Airways are being operated independent of railways, and in the United States in co-operation with the railways. Passengers may now purchase tickets from New York to Los Angeles, flying by day and using the railroad pullmans at night to sleep in whilst continuing their journey. Two days are cut from the time formerly occupied in the all-rail trip across the continent. Imperial Airways Ltd. which first started its regular schedule from Croydon to Paris, has extended its service to India, besides developing air routes in conjunction with European companies.

The development of air travel in Canada depends as elsewhere on the support accorded it. Broad stretches of prairie land from Winnipeg to the Rockies afford comparative safety for airplanes. Crossing the Rockies is more perilous, because of infrequency of good landing places. Only the most experienced and daring pilots navigate the air currents and mists of the mountains; men who think mighty fast and act as quickly in emergencies. Landing fields will be needed with more frequency than over prairie country. Aviators state that to make an air route comparatively safe through the mountains landing fields must be available every fifteen or twenty miles. They are as necessary for air travel routes as are highways and garages for automobiles. On the rapidity with which these havens are provided depends the development of regular routes across Canada.

Local pride is a commendable quality. It is good for the individual. We are valued by others by the standard which we ourselves set. Which gives rise to the thought—"what are we doing to create local pride in our boys and girls at school?" At the end of the school year, some may leave, with excellent showings in their examinations. There is nothing in the way of a little commendation, except it might be the few words of praise and appreciation bestowed by the principal and teachers. Something more is needed, and the suggestion is made that the same recognition be made as in most high schools, by holding Commencement Exercises at a suitable date following the re opening of the schools. The school board might well take the lead in giving this their official sanction. As we get older we are too liable to allow the significance of school life to fade out of our thoughts. There is nothing more interesting in helping us to feel young than by keeping in direct touch with the young people.

The town council has considered every year for the past seventeen the excavating of a basement at the town hall. Hope was raised high a week or two ago that they were really going to do it. But like the song, "First she said she would, then she said she wouldn't, then she said she couldn't," so it is with the town hall basement. In the meantime about 'umpteen stoves will keep a man busy night and day to warm the place and keep the fire engine from freezing up. Which is very poor economy.

The world does not owe us a living. The law of nature is the survival of the fittest, and that means a continual struggle to keep on top. The man who imagines the world owes him a living and goes through life on that assumption will likely find himself in the bread line, waiting for what he figures the world owes him.

When a church organization steps out to take orders for Christmas cards it is time to protest. Every merchant deserves and expects to have a measure of protection in his particular line of business against house-to-house peddlers. The printing office expects the same. A lady representing this office solicited orders this week, and was informed by a number of people they had already been solicited by a ladies aid. Consequently the lady who is endeavoring to support two young children is deprived from the money she might have earned in securing orders for Christmas cards. O consistency, thou art a jewel! Where is the golden rule in this case which church organizations advocate?

CARRY Your Licences

The Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act, 1924, Amendment Act 1929, requires that every person operating a motor vehicle shall secure an operator's or chauffeur's licence and shall at all times while driving carry same. A penalty is provided for failure to produce such licences when demanded by an officer.

It is necessary, owing to the number of motorists who persist in driving without licences, that the police be instructed to require the production of these licences from time to time.

This law has been passed in the interests of safe driving, and the production of a licence is the only proof of ownership of one.

Carry your licence at all times and avoid inconvenience and prosecution.

The Singing Fool

By HUBERT DAIL
Copyright, 1928, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club, wins fame as a composer of popular songs. He marries Molly Winton, a ballad singer, and makes her famous too. Molly and Al have a baby, Junior, whom Al adores. Molly becomes interested in John Perry, Al's close friend, and Perry begs her to leave Al. One night, after Al has taken Molly home from the Club Bombo, where he is part owner, she turns on him in rage, saying she doesn't love him. Al believes it is a mood, but when Molly fails to appear at the Club Bombo New Years Eve celebration he calls her. A feminine voice answers, but he cannot hear the words, as the phone door flies open.

CHAPTER XVI.

Once more Al seized the door of the phone booth and slammed it hard—to stay shut this time. Then he turned back to the phone. He suddenly decided that he must make things up with Molly now—he would cast all pride aside and frankly beg her to do it.

"Sweetheart," he pleaded, "let's start the new year right. If there's anything I've done, I'm sorry. Let's make up."

There was a long silence, then the faint murmur of a feminine voice, whose words he didn't understand. A start of fear shot through him, but he persisted.

"I love you, Molly; you know how I love you. I can't bear to have you go toward me."

Now the voice at the other end was stronger; he suddenly realized it was not Molly's voice at all, but the maid's. He heard her quick, distraught words come travelling over the wire like bullets.

"Mrs. Stone is not here. She has gone away."

"Gone away!" Al exclaimed. What do you mean?"

"Yes, sir; Mrs. Stone has packed up her things and gone. She left a letter for you."

ting out a letter. He seized it and the maid discreetly retired.

Al had a terrible dread of opening it, but he nerved himself to the task and ripped back the envelope flap. Then he read the fateful message in Molly's distinctively vertical handwriting:

"Al—
"I'm leaving—don't try to persuade me to come back. I don't love you—I never did love you. It was hard enough to bear before John Perry came into my life. Since then it has been impossible."

Al looked up from the letter with a cry of rage and pain. For the first time he saw the whole situation in one blinding flash. Molly not only failed to love him, but she loved someone else. And that someone was John Perry—naive, immaculately dressed John—who, Al had believed, was his best friend. He realized now that Perry, whom he had trusted implicitly, had betrayed that trust from the first. Then another flash in the letter seemed to throw inside his brain—Molly said she had never loved him. She had lived a lie from the moment she said she would marry him!

For a moment this sense of bitter rage and contempt eliminated all other thoughts and emotions in him. The sense of being cheated, not only once, but constantly for days, weeks, months, years, made him turn to look on both Molly and John Perry and blast them with scorn.

He recalled the countless times he had overlooked Molly's petulant moods, selfish caprices and savage outbursts of anger, always believing that she was loyal and fine underneath.

Now, suddenly, his thoughts turned to Junior and he read on:

"I was going to leave the baby, but he woke up as I was leaving. He held out his arms to me and, after all, he is more mine than yours."

"MOLLY."

Al ran to the nursery. The dresser drawers had been pulled out and there were evidences of hasty packing all about. Some of Junior's toys lay scattered about the floor, among them his favorite, a woolly dog. His pillow had been thrown in the corner.

Al stood, dazed, gripping the footboard of Junior's bed. Where had Molly taken his boy?

For a moment Al was possessed by the determination to find Molly and Junior tonight—then he realized that the plan was futile. In this city of seven million persons and countless skyscrapers, how could Molly and John Perry could have taken Junior, hiding away without difficulty.

After that note Al did not doubt that Perry was with Molly. Perhaps even now they were speeding toward Boston in Molly's Rolls-Royce, or they might have caught the night limited for Florida several hours ago. He went quickly to the phone and called up the garage.

The Poor Man's Friend.—Put up in small bottles that are easily portable and sold for a very small sum, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil possesses power in "concentrated form." Its cheapness and the varied uses to which it can be put make it the poor man's friend. No dealer's stock is complete without it.

Sulphate Plant

Large Plant To Be Erected About 60 Miles South Of Moose Jaw

Within the next sixty days, construction work is to be started on a large sulphate plant some sixty miles south of Moose Jaw. The plant will draw the sodium sulphate deposits from Horseshoe Lake, a short distance southeast of Ormiston. By June of next year, it is expected to be in operation. The Barium Reduction Corporation of Charleston, West Virginia, is the company behind the undertaking.

From Youth to Age

There are three trying periods in a woman's life: when the girl matures to womanhood, when a woman gives birth to her first child, when woman reaches middle age. At these times Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps to restore normal health and vigor.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

May Leave Lonely Island

But Proposition Not Favorably Received By Inhabitants Of St. Kilda

One of the most romantic—and the loneliest—places in Britain may soon be left to the sea-birds. This is St. Kilda, the little group of islands in the Atlantic, whose population has now dropped to thirty-eight. At the beginning of this century it was seventy-seven, and in 1851, it was 119. It has now been proposed that the island should be evacuated, and homes found for the inhabitants on the mainland. There are some hundreds of sheep on the island, but these are kept for their wool, and only used for food if the supplies run short. Sea-birds' eggs and young sea-birds are the principal articles of food, with potatoes when the crop is good—which isn't always the case. The life of the islands is thus a hard one, and the fare is apt to grow monotonous. But the St. Kildians are attached to their homes, and don't want to leave them. The population, if now very small, was smaller still 200 years ago, when, following a smallpox epidemic, the numbers of the islanders were reduced to thirty.

GOOD IN EVERY WAY

Baby's Own Tablets Banish Balyhood and Childhood Ailments

A medicine that all mothers praise as a good every way, and which will quickly banish the minor ills of balyhood and childhood is the medicine to keep in the medicine chest—to always have on hand in case of emergency. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. They are helpful at all times. They are a mild but thorough laxative which by regulating the bowels and stomach banish colds and simple fevers; correct constipation and indigestion; relieve colic and diarrhoea and make the cutting of teeth easy.

Thousands of mothers use no other medicine for their little ones. Among them is Mrs. J. H. Bromley, Westmeath, Ont., who writes:—"I have four children and whenever any of them are ill, I give them Baby's Own Tablets and have found them good in every way. I would not be like your little booklet, 'Care of the Baby in Health and Sickness.'"

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Museum Of Antiques

Many Anusning Things Seen At Garden Fete In London, England

I heard of an amusing side-show held at a garden fete recently, writes "Looker-On" in the London Daily Chronicle. It was called a Museum of Antiques, but the nature of the exhibits may be guessed from the following specimens: A gigantic safety-pin, four inches long, which in the olden days was used for pinning company; dangerous-looking daggers, over a foot long, labelled hat pins of 1909; a length of braid, one edge of which appeared frayed, but a skirt about five yards in diameter was also shown with this braid used for the hem, apparently to sweep up the mud of the streets; a lingerie blouse, fastening up the back with innumerable tiny hooks and eyes which, not being rusted, had marked the cambric with iron mould, and there were other amusing relics in favour with our mothers and grandmothers.

Majority Of Drivers Have To Suffer For Carelessness Of Selfish Ones

The majority of drivers are without doubt, safe and considerate; but unfortunately all road users are at the mercy of an ignorant and selfish minority, who seem to imagine that a display of recklessness will be mistaken for an exhibition of proficiency. The cult of the cheap car has not been attended by a corresponding cultivation of good manners. Until the quick-tempered, self-centred motorist learns that there is a code of courtesy which must be adhered to on the King's highway, the innocent will continue to suffer for the sins of the guilty.

The ease with which corns and warts can be removed by Holloway's Corn Remover is its strongest recommendation. It seldom fails.

Says Farewell To Regiment

The evacuation by the second battalion of the Leicestershire regiment, the first complete British unit to leave the Rhine, brought stirring farewells scenes. Practically the entire population turned out in the drenching downpour of rain to wish the soldiers goodbye.

Little Helps For This Week

"For, lo, the winter is past, the rain is over and gone; the flowers appear on the earth, the time of the singing of birds is come."—Song of Solomon II, 11, 12.

The year's at the spring, And day's at the morn; Morn's at seven; The hill-side's dew-peared; The lark's on the wing; The snail's on the thorn; God's in His heaven: All's right with the world.

—Robert Browning.

That is not an enviable nature that hears no strange melodies hinting of heaven through the marches of the year; that sees no glorious signs hung out on earth and sky of an infinite love that is never forgetful, and never unkind; that pauses not with reverent spirit to ponder the lesson that is told in grass, and tree, and flower; and that feels no benediction in the bright air and palpitating sky. He may be just to his neighbor, industrious and virtuous; but he does not understand the meaning of Jesus in the fields of Galilee, pointing to the birds and lilies, and telling of our Father's care.—Horatio N. Powers.

Fertilizer Brings Returns

Increase In Yield Of 11 Bushels To The Acre Is Reported

A place of land on the Pokrant farm in Morton, close by the Canadian Pacific Railway station, was seeded this year with fertilizer by the experimental farm of the district. It yielded 41 bushels of wheat to the acre, as compared with a yield of 30 bushels in an adjoining lot, unfertilized. It is said that the fertilizer retains its value to the soil for three years.

Meteors Falling On Earth

Will Make Planet Heavier, Says Professor Of Observatory In South Africa

The earth is putting on weight, says Dr. Layton, of Harvard Observatory at Bloemfontein, South Africa. He said that the number of Meteors falling upon the earth was in the neighborhood of 30,000,000 a day. "No matter how small they are," he said, "the total weight of a crowd like that is going to count in the long run." He declared that the ultimate effect would be to slow down the rotation of the planet and lengthen the day. Since the change in the length of the day will not be more than one-thousandth of a second in a million years, there is plenty of time for geologists to think out some sort of reducing process.

The Oil For the Farmer.—A bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the farm house will save many a journey for the doctor. It is not only good for the children when taken with colds and croup, and for the mature who suffer from pains and aches, but there are directions for its use on sick cattle. There should always be a bottle of it in the house.

Ideal--Wherever alterations are required

IN many a fine, old-fashioned farm house there are rooms much larger than people today consider necessary. This available space can be partitioned off into extra rooms with very little work and at surprisingly small cost by the use of Gyproc Fireproof Wallboard. And the Gyproc walls and ceilings of the new rooms will match the older walls—no matter how solid they are—for seasoned rigidity, good looks and permanence.

Gyproc is the perfect building material for all modern farm construction—for homes, barns, poultry houses, granaries and garages. It is pure rock—cannot warp, shrink or burn. With the use of joint filler and tape its sections meet in a tight, flush joint that insures a flat, smooth surface and takes any decoration.

Beautiful decorative effects can be obtained by applying Alabastine, paper or marble right over Gyproc wall or ceiling.
